Open Doors

Sunday 15 November – Tanzania After leaving her family's traditional religion to become a Christian, Amekidia was thrown out of home, and kidnapped and sexually assaulted by the man chosen to marry her. She's since escaped and is doing well. "Pray that I can achieve my dreams," she asks.

Monday 16 November – Bhutan Dema struggled to provide for her children when her husband threw them out of home. "It was almost impossible to explain the price of faith to my kids," she says. "Pray for my husband. May the Lord open his eyes to see Him."

Tuesday 17 November – South East Asia Anne had been unable to conceive for 15 years, bringing judgement from society. Six months after meeting Dhea, who prayed for her, Anne fell pregnant. She and her husband later became Christians. Pray for their spiritual growth.

Wednesday 18 November – Vietnam Lem was divorced by her husband following years of abuse. She's now sole parent to their two children. "No matter what happened, I want to keep following Christ," she says. Pray for healing and provision.

Thursday 19 November – Central Asia "I never had enough money even for food, so of course I couldn't buy Christmas presents for my three children," says Bahul, whose husband left her because of her faith. "I prayed and God answered He sent you with your gifts!" Pray that her children will grow to know Jesus.

Friday 20 November – Sri Lanka Many women in the Ampera region turn to church to escape abuse from their alcoholic husbands. When they become Christians and take their children to church, the opposition can worsen. Pray for their husbands' salvation.

Saturday 21 November – Iraq Many Christian mothers are concerned about their children's future. Limited job opportunities for Christians are leaving young people discouraged. Pray that the sincere faith of these mothers will also live in their children (2 Timothy 1:5).
